Battlefords Better Together Team

Working together for the well-being of our youth

Because our community was impacted by so much loss in such a short time, we realized we needed to come together as a community group to wrap around our youth. Each member of the community group must work both individually and as a member of a team to take the steps needed to restore balance to the environment. Positive working relationships among everyone not only achieve the goal of recovery from a community crisis, but the adult's actions provide positive role models for youth and lifelong lessons about how to conduct oneself during times of adversity.

We believe that sharing information and encouraging helpful dialogue will help us better support our youth.
